

Slipping Through the Cracks: Intervention Strategies for Clients with Multiple Addictions and Disorders

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 2018

Mark Sanders, LCSW, CADC, is an international speaker, trainer, and consultant in the behavioral health field whose work has reached thousands throughout the United States, Europe, Canada, Caribbean, and British Islands.

Mark is the author of five books, which focus on behavioral health. Recent writings include “Slipping Through the Cracks: Intervention Strategies for Clients with Multiple Addictions and Disorders,” “Recovery Management,” and “Relationship Detox: Helping Chemically Dependent Clients Develop Healthy Relationships in Recovery.” He has had two stories published in the New York Times best-selling book series, “Chicken Soup for the Soul.” Mark has been a certified addictions counselor for 34 years. He has received numerous awards including a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Illinois Addiction Counselor Certification Board and the Barbara Bacon Award for outstanding contributions to the Social Work profession as a Loyola University of Chicago Alumni.

Mark is co-founder of Serenity Academy of Chicago, the only recovery high school in Illinois. He is past president of the board of the Illinois Chapter of the NAADAC. He has had a 30 year career as a university educator, having taught at the University of Chicago, Illinois State University, Illinois School of Professional Psychology, and Loyola University of Chicago, School of Social Work.

Overview: Clients with co-occurring disorders are vulnerable to slipping through the cracks due to the absence of integrated services. Their experience often involves going back and forth between the addictions, mental health, criminal justice, and child welfare systems without recovering. This can also include periods of homelessness and medical hospitalizations. In this workshop you will learn primary reasons why clients slip through the cracks including: a lack of integrated services; triple challenges; inadequate service doses; misdiagnosis; hidden diagnosis; addiction to a drug subculture; lack of community; unresolved grief and trauma, and low recovery capital. Emphasis will be placed upon 10 strategies to help clients with co-occurring disorders avoid slipping through the cracks and initiate recovery.

Objectives: At the conclusion of the workshop, the participant will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • List ten reasons clients with co-occurring disorders slip through the cracks. • Name six hidden psychiatric disorders that play a role in clients slipping through the cracks. • Clarify roles and the effective use of therapists and peers to facilitate recovery. • Articulate the importance of collaboration across systems to help persons seeking recovery. • Define ten strategies to help clients with co-occurring disorders avoid slipping through the cracks and initiate recovery. 	Who Should Attend: This intermediate level workshop is relevant to all behavioral health and health professionals who provide services to clients with co-occurring disorders, e.g., addiction counselors, social workers, psychologists, marriage and family therapists, mental health counselors, psychiatrists, physicians, nurses, inpatient staff, etc.	Schedule: 8:00 – 8:30 (ET) 8:30 – 10:00 10:00 – 10:10 10:10 – Noon Noon – 1:10 1:10 – 2:15 2:15 – 2:25 2:25 – 4:00	Registration Ten Reasons Clients Slip Through the Cracks: Costs and Consequences Break Six Hidden Psychiatric Disorders, Role Clarity, and Addressing Triple Challenges Lunch (on your own) How to Collaborate Across Systems Break Intervention Strategies to Help Clients Avoid Slipping Through the Cracks
